As a new student to the College of Arts and Science at Vanderbilt, I would like a way to find my teachers' offices easily in Stevenson Center. With Stevenson Center being such a confusing building to navigate, I would like a way to look up clear instructions on how to get from one room to a teacher's office so that I can waste no time wandering around lost during their office hours.

As a Vanderbilt student, I want a way to quickly find a route between rooms in Stevenson building so that I will know how to get to my classes.

As a member of the Vanderbilt community, I want to be able to navigate Stevenson without getting lost. Since Stevenson can be very confusing, I would like to have step-by-step instructions for exactly where to go, including noting major landmarks along the way. As a student, I would also not only want a correct solution but also one that could get me to the correct location as quickly as possible. Another feature I would want is convenience, I don't want to have to pull out my computer to find where to go, so a mobile app would be optimal.
